AN EXPENSIVE BLAZE.

SPREADS TO ADJOINING BUILDINGS

The Loss to the Baseball Club Will Reach Eighty Thousand Dollars, While Other Losses Will Aggregate Thirty-three Thousand Dollars More.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The pavilions and spectators' stands at the Philadelphia Baseball park, and the large stables of the Omnibus Company General were destroyed by fire yesterday, and the car depot of the Thirteenth and Fifteenth streets and Twelfth and Sixteenth streets division of the Philadelphia Traction company, the saloon property of James J. Boyle, and many private residences were more or less injured. The fire was discovered in the wooden panelling of the women's retiring room in the main pavilion of the ball park at 10:30 in the morning, and is supposed to have originated from inflammables left by some plumbers.

The great tiers of seats were deserted at the time, but had the fire been discovered a few hours later, when the local club was scheduled to play two games with the Baltimore team, a terrible stampede and loss of life would have ensued, for a few minutes after the first small tongue of flame was discovered the entire mass was a roaring furnace.

The Philadelphia team was practicing on the diamond when the fire was discovered. Three of the players, Reilly, Fanning and Taylor, gave the alarm, and attempted to extinguish the blaze. They were quickly driven back by the heat, however, and made a rush for their clothes. The players had narrow escapes.

A general alarm of fire brought all the engines in the city to the spot, but the pavilions and open seats were already crumbling under the roaring flames. The fire next jumped Fifteenth street and attacked the stable of the Omnibus Company General, which covers the entire adjoining block. The offices of this company were soon gutted, and then the flames made their way to the great hay mows on the second floor of the new brick and iron structure, where over 500 tons of hay were stored. About 350 horses were in the stable when it caught, but the animals, together with the vehicles stored there, were all saved.

The next building to go was the produce shop of William Bantom, at No. 1,501 Tucker street, which is a total wreck. The drug store of Thomas Park, on the corner of Fifteenth and Huntingdon streets, narrowly escaped meeting the same fate. The windows were broken to atoms and the woodwork scorched and burnt. Mr Park's loss will be heavy. A number of adjacent dwellings were similarly damaged.

Meanwhile the Traction company's car depot on Huntingdon street, opposite the main pavilion, caught fire, but was quickly extinguished. The saloon of J. J. Boyle, at Broad and Huntingdon street, was similarly damaged.

The following were severely burned while saving property or trying to extinguish the flames: James McGee, a fireman, overcome by heat and injured by falling down a flight of steps, Charles Bover, a horse shoer, severely burned. Assistant Engineer Ellinger and Firemen Thomas Clayton, George Reese, Harry Thomas and John Elliott, badly scorched.

The Philadelphia Baseball park will loose $80,000, insured for $20,000. The Omnibus company's loss will be $20,000, the Traction company looses $2,000 and J. J. Boyle $1,000. The total damage to the other property will aggregate $10,000.

The games scheduled to be played with Baltimore in the afternoon were postponed, and last night the Philadelphia club left for Boston. The club will play two games in this city with the Washington club on Saturday at the University of Pennsylvania grounds.

A Robber Found Drowned.

ST LOUIS, Aug. 7.—The body of a man who is believed to have been the person who attempted to hold up Messenger Ferguson near Valley Park Friday night has been found in the Merrimac river. The man had a bullet wound in his head. He was found eleven miles above the scene of the robbery. Special Agent Dodge has reported that the dead man undoubtedly was the robber.

The Empress of China Ashore.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The British steamer Empress of China, Captain Archibald, from Vancouver via Yokohama for Shanghai, is ashore at the latter point. All attempts to get her off have failed. It will be necessary to discharge all of her cargo before she can be floated.

Dr. Hand's Colic Cure in Hudson.

HUDSON, N. Y., Sept. 28, 1893.

I bought a bottle of Dr. Hand's Colic Cure and found it so good for my baby, who was suffering from colic so that I could not get a moment's rest night or day. I now take pleasure in writing this so that every mother can know about it, for I hope that Dr. Hand's medicines will find their way into every family in the land.—Mrs. Oscar Shook, 48 Chapel street. Dr. Hand's Colic Cure is sold by all druggists for 25c.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands can testify. Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most, of the remedies in general use afford but temporary relief. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes. Ely's Cream Balm, which is so highly commended, is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power, with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. The druggists all sell it.

Invading Strikers Turned Back.

PERU, O., Aug. 7.—The expected invasion of 400 strikers from Spring Valley, Ladd and Seatonville, which was planned at the mass meeting of Saturday, failed to materialize. Sheriff Taylor brought down fifty deputies and the Ottawa militia, and pickets were placed on every road. Only a few scattering gangs appeared at the county line and were turned back without trouble. The militia met the strikers from the mines south of the river, and a short but lively experience with bayonets convinced the invaders that they had no particular business on this side of the river. Meantime 100 men went down into the mine and are working at the Columbus scale.

Senator Daniel's Son Killed.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Aug. 7.—William Patton Daniel, the 5-year-old son of United States Senator John W. Daniel, met with a fatal accident Sunday afternoon. The little boy was playing in the yard of the senator's residence, and had a horse saddled for a ride about the premises. The horse turned suddenly, and in a second the little boy was bleeding with his head on the ground. The animal made a dash and for about sixty feet dragged the boy over the yard. The senator ran into the yard and bore his son into the house. Although all that medical skill could suggest was done, he died at 11:10 Sunday night.

The Relay Bicycle Race.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 7.—Horton, of Georgetown, a rider in the Washington Denver bicycle relay race, arrived here last evening at 5:10, two hours and twenty minutes ahead of scheduled time. The message was transferred at Hagerstown to Culver, who rode four miles to Williamsport. The towpath of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal will be used from Williamsport as far west as Cumberland. Kent Muller, of Hagerstown, who rode the last twenty miles into Cumberland, reached that city with the dispatch at 6 o'clock this morning.

Strikers Want to Fight for Japan.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Valentine Nowacki, the leader of the foreign forces of the coke strikers, proposes to make an offer to the Japanese government to furnish 5,000 soldiers for use in their war against China. Nowacki will confer with the Japanese legation at Washington. He is a soldier, and so it is claimed is every adult foreign coke striker in the region. Their marching and camping the last three months has made them enthusiastic to once more carry gun and saber. All seem anxious to go.

A Slav Colony for Arkansas.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7. — Fifty thousand acres of land have been purchased in the state of Arkansas by the Slovak Colonization company, of this city, and a delegation left last night to make a final inspection of the land. Secretary Pucher, in outlining the project, said the prevailing distress in the coke region, mining sections and manufacturing districts, had induced a large number of his countrymen to return to the old country, but many who had money decided to invest in farming land in the west.

Withdrawing the Troops in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Aug. 7.—So far as Evanston Creek Springs are concerned the strike on the Union Pacific is over. Orders are to bring in the troops sent to these places last month to open the Overland route. Orders to withdraw other troops from Union Pacific "strike points" are expected soon, including the troops at Butte, from Fort McKenny. Railroad men predict that within this month the condition of feeling along the road will enable the troops to be withdrawn.

DEMOCRATS CARRY ALABAMA

Oates Elected Governor by a Majority of 18,000 to 20,000.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 7.—Despite the fact that the campaign just closed has been the bitterest ever known in the state, the election passed off quietly, and few disturbances are reported. The new Sayre election law, a modified form of the Australian ballot system, was put in operation for the first time, and it worked smoothly. The ballot was a secret one.

The voting was slow and the vote generally lighter than in 1892. The negroes, whose vote cut quite a figure, either did not vote at all or voted almost solidly for Oates in southern and middle Alabama, while in northern Alabama a majority of them were for Kolb. The white Republicans were mostly for Kolb.

Incomplete returns from various counties of the state indicate that in south and middle Alabama the Democrats have made gains in every county except Mobile, where the vote was light, the city of Mobile giving only 700 Democratic majority, against 3,000 last year. Montgomery, Selma, Eufaula and Birmingham, and nearly all the other and large towns, give Democratic majorities. The country districts were Kolb's strongholds, and in north Alabama except in the counties of Limestone, Madison, Lamar, Tuscaloosa and Etowah he got the same vote as in 1892, but in this (Jefferson) county his vote shows a heavy increase. The result in north Alabama is about the same as two years ago. That is Kolb's stronghold, and he has carried the same counties that he did in the last election. In south and middle Alabama the returns show Democratic gains which will give the state to Oates by 18,000 or 20,000.

In north Alabama the Democrats have gained two counties that were for Kolb two years ago, thereby securing three more members of the legislature, which Senator Morgan's friends claim make that body safely Democratic. The Kolbites have gained 2,500 votes in Jefferson county and have made gains in several counties, but these are offset by Democratic gains in other counties in the same section.

In Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The discussion of Senator Chandler's Dominion Coal company resolution and of Senator Hill's anarchist exclusion bill occupied the time of the senate yesterday, and furnished the texts for two very interesting and at times lively debates. The resolution went over without action by the expiration of the morning hour, and the exclusion bill was passed. The house transacted some unimportant routine business, but spent most of the day debating the senate amendments to the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Johnson (O.) presented the memorial of the Central Labor union of Cleveland, praying for the impeachment of United States District Judge Ricks, of Ohio, and it was referred to the judiciary committee.

Disastrous Pennsylvania Forest Fires.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Forest fires are threatening serious damage in this vicinity. Yesterday the entire department was called out to fight a long line of flames which had already reached the city limits on the southeast, and men were on duty all last night to protect the buildings on the outskirts. Near Conneautville, in the western part of the county, similar fires have already done serious damage, and hundreds of citizens and farmers have been fighting the fire since last Saturday night. Several large timber slashings and many acres of standing timber have been burned.

The Czar's Daughter Wedded.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 7.—The marriage of the Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch and the Grand Duchess Xenia, daughter of the czar, was celebrated yesterday at the imperial palace at Peterhoff, in the presence of the imperial family, the queen of Greece, Prince Christian of Denmark, the Princess of Wales and numerous other members of the royal families and distinguished personages. The czar led the couple to the altar. The metropolitan, assisted by the court clergy, officiated at the ceremony. A salute of a hundred guns announced the conclusion of the marriage.

Foreigner's Blamed for the Plague.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Consul Charles Seymour writing from Canton under the date of June 23, says: "Natives are trying to blame foreigners for the plague, and have gotten up riots in Canton and the surrounding country." The consul reports that the mortality is 50 per cent. of the cases, and that the deaths since March 1 number at least 40,000.

Li Hung Chang's Indemnity Claim.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—Viceroy Li Hung Chang expects the British government will claim compensation for the relatives of the victims of the sunken transport Kow Shing, and also for the owner of the cargo. Li Hung Chang estimates the indemnity due to China from Japan on account of the Kow Shing affair at $3,500,000.

Testimony of a Nurse and Midwife.

PAVILION, N. Y., May 21, 1885.—"I have had great experience as a nurse and midwife for the last five or six years, and I have never found anything so good as Gilmore's Aromatic Wine; have found it excellent for young ladies arriving at maturity, and also for ladies in the decline or change of life. I recommend it to the afflicted."

MRS. AMELIA PLUCKER.

Take it as you get it, in liquid or powder form, only see that you get Simmons Liver Regulator. It cures Sick headache, Biliousness and Constipation. You need not make a tea of it. A spoonful of the liquid, or a pinch of the powder, just before going to bed will insure refreshing sleep, and the next morning you feel as though you had a new lease on life. Sample package powder, 25 cents.

THE VIGILANT AGAIN.

She Leaves the Britannia and Satanita Far Astern.

ENGLISH TRICKS TO DEFEAT HER.

Attempts to Force the American Vessel Into Shallow Water Results Disastrously for the Prince of Wales' Cutter—Beaten at Their Own Game.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 7.—The race yesterday between the Vigilant, Britannia and Satanita, a distance of about fifty-five miles, was sailed in an excellent breeze, with the result that the two English yachts were left far astern. The time at the finish was: Vigilant, 5 h., 6 min., 15 sec.; Britannia, 5 h., 14 min., 20 sec.; Satanita, 5 h. 45 min., 15 sec. Vigilant consequently won by 8 min., 12 sec., without counting time allowance of 2 min., 22 sec., which she allows Britannia.

Captain Haff of the Vigilant, said to an Associated Press representative after the race:

"It is quite true that the Britannia tried to hold us at the start, evidently in order to allow the Satanita to get ahead. In fact, that was their tactics throughout. When one got slightly ahead the other immediately tried to hold us, and this led to our running into the shore more than once. The Satanita only led on the run to Bembridge. Directly we turned the point and started to reach for St. Catherine's Point we began to gain and soon passed her. The Britannia also came up, and then commenced a series of luffing matches. The Britannia was towing hard and prevented us from passing, continually bearing down on us and keeping us in shore.

"Ultimately, when we had just passed Ventnor, we tried to pass the Britannia to leeward, but failed. Then we decided to pass her to windward, whatever the risks might be. We succeeded, and the Britannia was pressed in shore and rubbed her bottom. Later on the Britannia again tried the same game when we were close together. We were determined not to be jockeyed in this fashion, and as both were game it was simply a case of which would go farthest in shore. As the Britannia draws three feet more water than the Vigilant she went on the rocks. The Vigilant also bumped, being nearer the shore, but I do not think that she suffered seriously."

Captain Haff concluded significantly, "If the Britannia continues these tricks there will be a yacht or two less to race these regattas."

Captain Carter, of the Britannia, told the correspondent that his boat grazed the rocks three times during the race. A diver has since examined her bottom and reports a part of her keel and copper has been torn away. Nevertheless she is racing today.

Nebraska's Drought Victims.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 7.—An appeal for the drought stricken portion of Nebraska signed by a committee claiming to represent large interests, was yesterday sent to the governor. It recites that the committee has just returned from extended visits through the section through which the hot winds destroyed crops. The committee explains that it has reason to believe from all it has been told that thousands of families will, "either starve, emigrate or be fed by charity unless the people as a whole provide for them." The committee suggests a solution of the problem—a special session of the legislature be called immediately to devise a state system of irrigation, and that the drought victims be given employment on the ditches.

Important Capture of Counterfeits.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Secret service officers yesterday captured $10,000 of the new Webster head counterfeit $10 bills and twenty plates for printing the same, also a large amount of fibre paper. The officers also arrested J. W. Murphy, one of the counterfeiters, who was held in $10,000 bail. There was also captured a plate for printing a new Garfield $20 note. These captures, together with those made last week are said to be the largest and most important ever made by the service. None of the notes had got into circulation.

General Tarsney Under Arrest.

DENVER, Aug. 7.—Adjutant General Tarsney left for Colorado Springs yesterday, accompanied by a military body guard, at the head of which is Brigadier General Brooks. A warrant has been issued by Judge Campbell at Colorado Springs for General Tarsney's arrest for contempt of court in failing to answer a summons to appear before the grand jury. He is now ready to give the grand jury the facts concerning the tarring and feathering outrage of which he was the victim.

La Grippe.

During the prevalence of the Grippe in past seasons it was a noticeable fact that those who depended upon Dr. King's New Discovery, not only had a speedy recovery, but escaped all of the troublesome after effects of the malady. This remedy seems to have a peculiar power in effecting rapid cures not only in cases of La Grippe, but in all Diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, and has cured cases of Asthma and Hay Fever of long standing. Try it and be convinced. It won't disappoint. Free Trial Bottles at McMonagle & Rogers's drug store

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

It removes at once the cause, and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. Seventy-five cents. Sold by J. E. Mills, druggist, Middletown.

THE NEW JAPANESE MINISTER

Mr. Shinichiro Kurino, Chief of the Diplomatic Bureau in Japan.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Immediately after the announcement of the recall of Mr. Gozo Tateno as Japanese minister to this country it was stated that Mr. Kentaro Kaneko had been appointed to this post. This was an error, due, it is supposed, to a mistake in transmission of the name. A telegram received at the Japanese legation last evening announces the appointment of Mr. Shinichiro Kurino, chief of the diplomatic bureau of the department for foreign affairs, to succeed Mr. Tateno.

Mr. Kurino was one of the students who were sent to this country by the government of Japan as soon as that government decided upon the policy of sending her young men abroad to persue the course of studies in colleges and universities of Europe and America. Some twenty years ago, when Mr. Kurino had thoroughly mastered the English language, he devoted himself to the study of law in the Cambridge law school at Harvard. Subsequently upon his return to Japan he received an appointment in the department for foreign affairs, where he especially dealt with matters involving legal questions.

He was then transferred to the postal department, where he introduced many reforms, and in 1891 he was appointed chief of the diplomatic bureau. Within the last three years many important questions have arisen in the international relations of Japan, and in all these questions Mr. Kurino has figured quite prominently.

His abilities and high character are recognized not only by his own government but also by the officials of the foreign governments whose duties have brought them into contact with him. In a social way he is a remarkably amiable gentleman, and has always figured as a favorite.

Charges Against Railway Managers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—During the past week a committee of the A. R. U. held frequent consultations with Mayor Hopkins. Yesterday W. E. Burns, director of that organization and the head of the committee admitted the purpose of their visit was to furnish proof in many instances that the destruction of property for which damages are claimed was done by men employed by the railroads and General Managers' association. They claim to be able to prove that the men arrested last Friday charged with leading riot and burning cars on the Rock Island tracks on July 5 was at that time in the employ of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road. They also claim to have other similar cases.

Cultivated Anarchists on Trial.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The trial of thirty anarchists began yesterday in the court of assizes with M. Dayrus presiding and M. Bulot conducting the prosecution. The prisoners Bertani, Chericotti and Bellotti appeared with their wives, who are also under charges. The only other female prisoner is the widow Milanaccio. Conspicuous among the other prisoners are Jean Grave, Julin Ledot and Charles Chatel, authors; Sebastien Faure, agitator, and Felix Feneon, who, when employed in the war ministry, was found to be hiding dynamite and anarchist literature in his desk.

Murdered by His Brother.

GALENA, Ills., Aug. 7.—George Richardson, a prominent farmer of New Diggings Wis., was waylaid and murdered while riding home from Galena by his brother Mark. There has been ill feeling between the brothers for years, and they were engaged in litigation about their father's estate. Thursday night Mark Richard's barn was burned, and he attributed the fire to his brother. He left home Sunday night to meet his brother on the road, and shot him dead when he appeared. The murderer then went to Benton and surrendered himself, and was taken to Darlington jail.

Refused to Eat with Non-Unionists.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The sensation of yesterday at Pullman was the refusal of Company M, infantry, to eat at the same table with non-union men. When the company came to break ranks at the mess tent entrance they were indignant to see two tables within filled with non-union employes of the Pullman company. The workmen were a part of the new force hired yesterday. The soldiers, however refused to enter, and the workmen were finally marched out and the company marched in, receiving the assurance that they will hereafter have the mess tent to themselves.

Fire Panic in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—A panic was created yesterday afternoon by a fire which broke out in a row of tenement houses at West Fortieth and Ohio streets, many families tumbling over each other in a wild scramble to save their effects. The fire started in a small alley, and, driven by a strong wind, swept down the row, destroying the back porches, kitchens and outbuildings of sixty houses. The flames threatened for a time to wipe out the entire neighborhood, and the tenants fled in terror, but by hard work the firemen finally controlled the blaze. Small loss.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill. had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Sdeaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, and the doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

ANOTHER HOUSE CAUCUS

It Displeases the Members of the Tariff Conference.

CALLED TO PUSH THE MEASURE.

It Is in Direct Opposition to the Wishes of Speaker Crisp and Chairman Wilson. Senator Voorhees Urges the Senate to Yield Free Coal and Iron Ore.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—When the Democratic tariff conference adjourned last evening there seemed to be a better feeling among the conferrees than at the close of previous sessions. Members from both houses announced that the committee had been working over the schedule, and that progress was being made, but they did not indicate when a report would be reached, though some of the conferrees expressed the opinion that an agreement was in sight. For a considerable portion of the day the senators were not in the conference room, but it was stated that no significance was to be attached to that fact, as they were all working toward an agreement. These senators occasionally repaired to the committee room of Senator Vest, and sometimes were in consultation with Democratic managers in the room of the committee on appropriations.

The coal and iron questions were considered yesterday, almost to the exclusion of every other topic, and the discussion proceeded upon the basis of the duty provided on these articles by the senate amendments, with the limitation of the time that the duty shall continue to four years. The house conferrees held out stubbornly for the entire recession of the senate from its amendments, and there appearing no probability of reaching an understanding the senate conferrees withdrew to a separate room, leaving the house members to themselves the greater part of the afternoon. The day closed with a request on the part of the house conferrees that they be given further time to decide upon a line of action on coal and iron ore. The request was granted.

It is not understood that the house members have agreed positively either to accept or reject the senate proposition, but it is possible that they may submit a counter proposition, with the hope that it will be acceptable to the senators.

A member of the conference said today that with the coal and iron ore questions disposed of there would, he thought, be little more time necessary to reach an agreement on the entire bill. He admitted that there was a virtual understanding on all the other schedules, including sugar. He also said that the developments so far made indicated wide differences on coal and iron ore, and had not been of a character to indicate an agreement at all. Still, he was hopeful that a common agreement might be found on these two articles.

Considerable surprise was expressed by the conferrees when they learned that a call for a house caucus at 3 o'clock this afternoon had been issued, and it evidently was very distasteful to the house members of the conference, who had felt that they were beginning to see an agreement. Mr. Montgomery said that the caucus would make no difference so far as he was concerned and he would continue the work he was engaged in unless some action very different from that which he anticipated should be taken by the caucus. He said that while the caucus was in progress the conferrees would be at work.

Intense feeling was developed among all members as soon as the caucus move began. Members gathered in the lobbies and talked excitedly for and against the step. Representatives Straus, Warner and others friendly to the administration, denounced it as a "fire in the rear."

Neither Speaker Crisp nor Chairman Wilson had been consulted as to the caucus and it was recognized as directly in opposition to their wishes. Representative Outhwaite, as associate of Speaker Crisp on the committee on rules, said:

"The caucus is not indorsed by the committee on rules or by the conferrees. It is evidently a move against the house conferrees. Members of the rules committee will probably enter the caucus, but I expect the conferrees will remain away in view of the fact that adverse action by the caucus would be equivalent to a vote of 'wane of confidence.'"

Representative Straus, a close friend of Mr. Wilson, expressed the opinion that the caucus would prove a boomerang. He believed Mr. Wilson and the other conferrees would attend the caucus and attempt to carry it. With such men as Speaker Crisp, Chairman Wilson, Bourke Cockran and others urging loyalty to the house conferrees, Mr. Straus did not think an antagonistic resolution would pass. Mr. Straus said also that he expected the caucus would bring out some startling conference secrets which would insure the conferrees' support from the house.

Messrs. Springer and Bynum make no concealment of the fact that the caucus is for the purpose of ending the contest by accepting the senate bill. In this connection they quote a statement made to them by Senator Mills to the effect that further house resistence meant the killing of all tariff legislation.

Senator Voorhees, who has been confined to his home by illness for some time, was much improved last night, and talked freely to an Associated Press representative regarding the tariff bill. He said among other things:

"The great question being practically out of the way, by concession, the senate ought, in my judgment, concede free coal and free iron ore, and of course, it would do so but for a membership in that body which can be counted on the fingers of one hand. I have no disposition to reflect on the motives of those who differ from me in opinion, but this small minority of the senate having substantially carried their point in sugar, can very easily afford to be asked to make concessions in coal and iron ore."

The torture of dyspepsia and sick headache, the agonizing itching and pain of salt rheum, are removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE DEAD ANT QUEEN

SHE HAD LIVED FOURTEEN YEARS AND HAD MANY COURTIERS.

A Touching Scene at the House of Sir John Lubbock—What Would Seem Trivial to the Lay Mind a Serious Matter to the Naturalist—Interesting Facts About Ants.

The waste of life in an ordinary formicary is great. Multitudes are continually perishing beneath the careless tread of human beings and cattle. A man or woman can hardly walk the garden without destroying many lives of busy creatures intent upon errands of their daily life. Birds pick them up as a delicate morsel. Toads and serpents are fond of a meal of living ants, and other creatures prey upon them. Therefore it becomes necessary to recruit the community day by day, and the number of recruits must exceed the daily waste if the social power of the family is not to be diminished. No wonder, therefore, that the fertile queen is a person of such consequence and is so carefully guarded. But it may be asked, Is she able to meet such demands upon her fecundity? Quite so. The number of eggs which an ordinary queen can lay in any one season amounts to many thousands, and the possible capacity of a single queen no doubt reaches scores of thousands of fertile eggs.

I was permitted to note the touching interest which focuses upon the queen of a formicary while visiting Sir John Lubbock one summer morning at his home in London. This distinguished naturalist had succeeded in preserving two ant queens to a marvelous age, one of these having reached the vast antiquity of 14 years. This longevity was due to the careful protection extended by Sir John and his attendants, for it is true of ommet herds as well as of domestic animals that they thrive under human protection. As I greeted Sir John on the morning referred to, in response to an invitation to breakfast with him and some of his friends, I inquired at once about the health of his ancient queen

"Alas, doctor!" he cried, "I have sad news to tell you. My old queen is dead!"

"Dead!" I exclaimed. "This is sad news indeed. When did she die?"

"Only last night," was the response, "and I have not yet told my wife about it, for I dare say she will feel as badly over the loss as myself."

Perhaps this may seem trivial to the ordinary lay mind, but to Sir John Lubbock and the writer it was a serious matter, for it ended one of the most interesting experiments as to the prolonged life of invertebrate creatures that the world has ever known.

"May I see the queen?" I asked.

"Yes; she is just here in the adjoining room."

Turning aside from the waiting company of distinguished persons who were to sit down with us at breakfast, we went to see the dead queen. She lay in one of the chambers, as I have described them, resting on her back, with her six legs turned upward and bent in the rigor of death. A crowd of courtiers surrounded her. Some were licking her, as though in loving care of her toilet. One would nip an antenna and another a leg, and by various other solicitations sought to arouse her. Alas, there was no response! It was curious and touching as well to watch their methods.

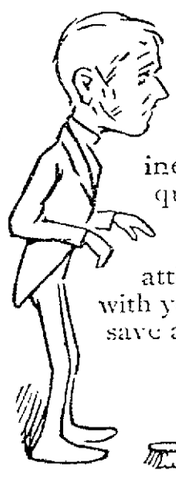
"They have not yet accepted the fact," said Sir John, "that their queen is really dead. Indeed I doubt if they are fully persuaded thereof. They have been surrounding her thus and trying to get some response from her ever since she died."

So we left the royal deathroom. Whether this interesting creature was taken by its kindly guardian and placed in a collector's bottle, or upon an entomological pin, or left for interment at the hands of her devoted courtiers, I never learned. But no one who witnessed that scene could doubt the strong interest and affection with which the venerable queen ant was regarded by her subjects.

Speaking of interment, it may not be amiss to say that ants have a curious habit of carrying the dead of their own community from the confines of the formicary, depositing them together in a convenient spot outside the bounds. So far as I have observed, they do not treat the carcass of an alien ant in this way, but appear to show this mark of respect to those of their own community alone. This is the basis of the popular notion that ants have cemeteries for the burial of their brotherhood. I have verified the fact to the extent above stated, and the point opens an interesting field for larger and more active study by some enterprising lover of ommet life

It has been said that the ant egg when dropped by the queen is seized by one of the attendants and carried away to the nurses. These receive it and place it in one of the chambers along with others of its kind. In a little while the egg becomes a pale white worm, or larva, with a greedy appetite for sweets. It is as helpless as a human baby and as dependent upon the care of adults. That care is not wanting. One can hardly fail to notice also the common characteristic of maternal fondness in dealing with these baby ants. The nurses shift the little ones back and forth, from one position to another, as far at least as a human being can judge, without having bettered the matter in the least. Seemingly they have only indulged the fancy of a mother to move about her baby just to gratify her own affections. They even appear to me at times to take the little things up and dandle them, after the fashion of a young mother and her first infant. However, all this may be but "anthropomorphism," a state of mind from which the observer of social insects can scarcely ever wholly escape.—Rev. H. C. McCook in Northwestern Christian Advocate.

If time is money, why can't a man pay his barber with the time he spends waiting for his turn?



No Wonder He Dreads It,

if his house is cleaned in the old-fashioned, tearing-up way. Why can't a man's wife use Pearline for cleaning house, and let him keep comfortable? That's all she needs—Pearline and water—to make it an easy thing (and a quick one,) both for herself and for everybody around her.

Everything in the house, from cellar to attic, can be cleaned best with Pearline. Besides, with your paint and wood-work and such things, you'll save a lot of wear that comes from useless scrubbing.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 410 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess,

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the dirt, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

DOCTORING SHIPS.

PARASITES THAT SEND OCEAN VESSELS TO THE HOSPITAL.

No Sure Protection For Iron Hulls Has Been Found The Old and the New Manners of Construction—Something About Drydocks and Their Uses.

The sea is a grand and yet a treacherous mother to the thousands of ships that sail over its broad expanse, and after buffeting with its storms the ships must go to their hospital for repairs. This hospital is the drydock, and the doctors are the army of careful workmen who look over carefully and repair every faulty seam or broken rivet.

Salt water is teeming with parasites of plant and animal life that cling to the bottoms of ships, eat slowly yet surely through wood and iron alike or rust it away, while they act as a check on the speed by vastly increasing the resistance and friction of the water against the ship. The "gods of the storms see everywhere" and pick out each weak seam or faulty rivet and slowly and surely eat into the vitals of the ship, so that every few months it becomes necessary to examine and repair the vessel. To do this she must come out of the water. The drydock is just a great box of wood, iron and stone, connecting with the sea by a great gateway. When the ship is ready to enter, the gate is shut and the water all pumped out; then the workmen, with practiced skill, place the blocks at the bottom of the dock for the keel to rest upon, taking the dimensions from the plans and drawings of the vessel. These in place, the dock is flooded again, the gate opened, and the ship hauled in. The gate is now closed again, and while the water is slowly pumped out and the ship settles down the dockers pull her this way or that until she rests evenly on the keel blocks. Then shores, or heavy wooden beams, are braced from the sides of the dock to the sides of the ship, and as the water is pumped away the ship stands "high and dry," a veritable "fish out of water," the bottom, which was below the water line, covered with seaweeds and parasites that hide the defects they have caused.

Then the workmen scrape and scour the unwelcome barnacles and grass away, the seams and rivets are all examined and repaired, a fresh coat of paint goes on again, and as the dock is again flooded the ship rises from her hospital bed, and the wooden supports are knocked away until she floats out to sea again, "healthy and strong," to battle with the wind and sea and the enemies of the flag she proudly flies.

When wood was used almost exclusively in building ships, a very easy and convenient means was found to protect the under water portions of the ship from the insidious attacks of barnacles and parasites of plant and animal life. This was done by covering the whole bottom of the ship with a plating of thin copper, for the galvanic action of the salt water upon the copper was to convert the ship and sea into a vast battery, where the copper became the negative pole and was slowly yet constantly eaten away, the particles, as they fell, taking with them the barnacles and seaweed as fast as they formed on the ship, thus keeping the ship's bottom and sides always clean, so that the speed was not cut down by dragging the barnacles and yards of seaweed through the water. Yet even then the copper needed repairs; faulty timbers rotted and crumbled away, so that every few years the ship had to go into drydock and be thoroughly overhauled, each faulty timber replaced and rusty bolt repaired until no loophole was left for the sea to work upon.

But with the advent of iron in the building of ships the old means failed, for where copper was placed over iron the iron became the negative pole of the great battery and was eaten away quickly, riddling the bottom of the ship with many leaks. Many devices were tried—the under water portions of the vessels were covered with a waterproof layer of wood, which was then coppered as before, but wherever there was any metallic connection between the copper and iron the whole force of the battery acted there, and holes were eaten in unexpected and inaccessible places, bringing in an element of uncertainty and enforcing great care in "sheathing" the vessels, as the coating of wood is called, and the ships still had to go more often than ever to the drydock.

Then the various methods of painting the bottoms with protective paints have been tried and are used in all of the cruisers of our navy. The skill of hundreds of chemists has been exerted to find a paint that would act as the copper does and throw off the barnacles and seaweed. Great prizes have been offered, and a fortune awaits the successful discoverer of such a coating for ships, yet so far none has been discovered that acts completely, and the iron and steel ships which start from port with freshly painted sides and bottoms return in a few months coated with barnacles and sea weed, which, as it trails in the water, very materially cuts down the speed and power of the ship. Then she must be put in the dry dock and scrubbed and scraped and repainted. Still worse than the barnacles and the seaweed is the water itself when it finds an entrance, be it ever so small, through the paint to the steel below. Slowly but surely it rusts out a little pit, which extends sometimes almost through the plate before the paint scale drops off and discloses the defect, which can even then only be seen by putting the ship in dry dock and examining every square foot of her bottom plating.

This all shows how necessary it is for the ships to go to their "hospital" and how careful her "doctors" should be, for millions of dollars worth of property and millions of priceless lives are carried every year on these "messengers of the sea." The greatest docks in the world are those of the great shipping port of Liverpool.—Washington Star.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Bringing Striking Thugs to Justice.

BRAZIL, Ind., Aug. 7.—A court of inquiry is being held here to bring to justice, if possible, the criminals who assailed David Wilson and John Wright last Friday night, badly injuring them, and also to ferret out the guilty parties who have frequently assaulted non-union Chicago and Eastern Illinois employes. William Finsler, Ed Reffet and William Richmond have been arrested. Finsler and Richmond were strikers. Several more arrests will follow.

Teeth Knocked Out by Lightning.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 7.—Harry Gross, a colored man of White Horse, met with a peculiar experience during a thunder storm which raged in the Chester valley yesterday. He was walking in the public road when he was struck by lightning in the mouth. Three of his upper teeth were knocked out and his lip cut and bruised. He was knocked unconscious for a few minutes, but recovered soon.

British Ships for Japan.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Two fast vessels left England on Saturday flying the Spanish flag. Another one will follow in a few days. These three vessels are partly fitted out as cruisers and will be transferred on the high seas to the Japanese government. Their equipment will be completed in Japan. All munitions of war now loading for both China and Japan clear under Spanish and Portuguese flags.

Arrested for Assaulting General Tarsney.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 7.—A number of important arrests in the Tarsney case were made last evening. The men arrested were William Bancroft, William Saxton, Bob Mullin, Tom Shellenberger, Walter Skephan and S. Crumley. The latter is the owner of one of the hacks driven on the night the tarring and feathering occurred, and Crumley drove one.

Drowned While Trying to Escape.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—An attempt to escape by two Blackwell's Island prisoners result in the drowning of one man and the capture of the other. The recaptured man, John Pender, was taken back to prison and locked in a dark cell. The drowned man's name is unknown.

Fatal Pugilistic Encounter.

ROLFE, Ia., Aug. 7.—Herman Barnes and Joseph Wiley, two farmers, had a quarrel and agreed to fight it out to a finish. The battle was a bloody affair, and Barnes was so badly hurt that he died. Wiley was arrested on a charge of murder.

NUGGETS OF NEWS.

While Deputy Sheriff Holmes, at Decatur, Ills., was trying to arrest Ames Lash on a crowded street car, Lash began firing. A bullet entered the breast of Ames Spiedler, a spectator. He may die. Lash was captured, slightly wounded.

A French Explorer Murdered.

TIENTSIN, Aug. 7.—M. Jules Dutreuil de Rhins, the eminent French explorer, has been murdered at Tibet and his body thrown into the river. The French envoy to China has sent a protest to the government, demanding the recovery and return of the body and papers, and also that the Chinese government make an apology for the occurrence and provide a proper compensation for the family of the murdered man.

Fruit Glut at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—The Sacramento river steamers arriving yesterday brought in over 30,000 packages of fruit. There were also heavy shipments by rail, and the local market became so badly glutted that peaches and plums sold at five cents a basket. As each basket of fruit weighs from thirty to forty pounds, the price realized does not pay freight and commission charges.

Building a New Railway.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 7.—A. S. Vanwickle, a coal operator of this place, gave out yesterday a contract to Henry King to build eighteen miles of railway from Beaver Meadow to New Boston, where it will connect with the Pennsylvania system. Two hundred men began work on it this morning. The surveys have been made and work will be pushed.

Father and Four Children Cremated

WILMAR, Minn., Aug. 7.—The farmhouse of S. O. Ostensen, of the town of Dover, about eight miles north of here, was burned to the ground at 2 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Ostensen and four children lost their lives in the flames. Mrs. Ostensen narrowly escaped cremation, but is crazed over the awful event.

Two Brothers Drowned.

TORONTO, O., Aug. 7.—John and Charles Moore, brothers, aged 13 and 18, were drowned in the Ohio river while out skiff riding with another boy and three girls. The other four persons in the boat were rescued.

PICKETT AND THE ARCHIVES.

The Light Turned on a Hidden Chapter of Wartime History.

Frank Riggs, the son of the famous banker and his father's successor in the financial circles at Washington, tells me an interesting story that corrects a false impression which many good people have carried for years. During the second term of President Grant a man of the name of Pickett sold to the government of the United States the records of the executive departments of the southern confederacy. From these documents was obtained much evidence that prevented the payment of claims of southern citizens who pretended loyalty for losses growing out of the war. In a single instance they saved several millions by showing that mail contractors throughout the south had been paid from the Confederate treasury for services performed by them for the postoffice department of the United States before the outbreak of the rebellion. They proved to be of great value in many other directions, and the price paid Mr. Pickett for them, which was something like $60,000, proved to be one of the most profitable investments ever made by the government.

Pickett had been the chief clerk of the Confederate state department or held some similar office which made him custodian of the archives. When President Davis and his cabinet fled from Richmond, Mr. Pickett carted the records away and hid them in some place that escaped the searchers of the Union army, and the manner of their disappearance was a mystery until they were delivered to Secretary Fish. It was always believed that Mr. Pickett pocketed the money, and he was universally condemned by southern people for betraying the secrets of the lost cause for a price.

"The facts have never been told," said Mr. Riggs, "for Mr. Pickett exacted the strictest pledges of secrecy from my father in regard to the disposition of the money. But both of them are dead now, and there is no reason why the truth should not be known. Mr. Pickett never had the benefit of one penny of the money he received from the government for those records. He deposited the entire amount as soon as he received it in our bank to the credit of 'George W. Riggs, trustee for,' and it was distributed in small amounts among the widows of Confederate officers. Mr. Pickett made out the list of the people to whom he wished it sent. The checks were all signed by my father. Each one was accompanied by a letter, which he prepared and which my father signed, saying that the inclosure was forwarded at the request of a gentleman who felt an interest in their welfare, but for reasons of his own desired that his identity should not be disclosed. The account was carried for several years, and all the checks and vouchers are now packed away in our bank."—Chicago Record.

Stopped Smoking to Save.

Xerxes Jones determined to quit smoking, not, you know, that it had any baneful influence upon his health, but solely for the reason that he didn't feel justified in spending 25 cents a day for the weedy luxury. Jones had a good disposition and began his new scheme on Sunday. "Seeing I've quit smoking, I'll put an extra quarter in the collection box today," he mused, and in the money went.

On Monday, just to please his little wife, good Jones bought a 40 cent box of mixtures and handed it over with the remark: "No, my dear, it's no extravagance. Just about what I saved on cigars today, and we both can enjoy this after tea." Tuesday Jones bought a 50 cent toy for his little boy out of the cash saved by abstinence from tobacco. Wednesday he changed his dining place down town from a 25 cent to a 50 cent table d'hote, feeling justified in spending the extra quarter saved on cigars.

Apparently forgetting this on Thursday, the reformer remarked to himself: "There's that new umbrella my wife's been talking about. I'll buy that and charge it up to two weeks' savings on 'smoke.'" On Friday a new dinner set was purchased to please the wife of his heart and set over against 20 weeks' savings from tobacco, and on Saturday Xerxes Jones spent 25 cents for cigars, having lost six days of his luxury, and figured up that he had "saved" on the wrong side of his books just about $35.00.—Philadelphia Call.

Eskimos and Tobacco.

"There are many interesting features about the Eskimos of Alaska," said A. C. Bruce, who is in charge of Lake Charles Reindeer station, at the Gibson. "One of the most interesting features of this peculiar people to me has been their habit of smoking. They are inveterate smokers without regard to sex. Their pipes are made of walrus tusks and are hollowed out in such a manner that a great deal of the tobacco as well as the smoke is inhaled. They will meet every whaling or other vessel, and almost any kind of a trade can be made for smoking tobacco. They will deliver up the ivory of the walrus at very much less than its value and take in exchange smoking tobacco at several times its real worth. The greatest punishment you can inflict upon an Eskimo is to deprive him of his tobacco."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Secret Defined.

A secret is a thing which you communicate to one whom you can trust. He, in turn, tells it to somebody that he can trust, and that somebody reveals it to another somebody whom he can trust. And so it goes the rounds, but it is still a secret, although everybody knows it.—Boston Transcript.

VEGETABLE NOVELTIES.

Some of the More Appetizing Ways of Serving Roots and Leaves.

There is a horrible monotony about the way cauliflower, asparagus and celery are always served. An invariably white sauce is poured over them, and they are sent to the table with tiresome regularity. They may be varied by being covered with quite a thick white sauce, sprinkled with parmesan cheese and colored a delicate brown before the fire. Or any of them, after being cooked, may be stewed in brown gravy.

Even the despised cabbage is capable of being made appetizing. After it is boiled and pressed dry it should be chopped fine and dried again by being put on the fire in the saucepan. Add a lump of butter, season with pepper and salt and add a little grated nutmeg. When hot, serve on squares of hot toast.

Mashed carrots are quite as palatable as mashed turnips. They should be cooked, passed through a sieve and put into a stewpan with a piece of butter, a spoonful of cream, a drop or two of tarragon vinegar, whisked up and seasoned with pepper and salt, arranged in the form of a mound and sprinkled with a little chopped parsley.

Cucumbers are seldom used except raw, and yet they are both delicious and digestible when cooked. The peel should be removed, and the cucumber should be boiled until tender, then drained and sliced and simmered in good brown gravy, to which a very little chili vinegar has been added, for seven or eight minutes. Radishes, like cucumbers, can be served hot as well as in salads. They should be tied in bunches and boiled for 18 or 20 minutes; then placed on toast and covered with white sauce. Peas, French beans and sprouts are greatly improved by being tossed for a few minutes previous to sending to table in a saucepan containing a lump of fresh butter, a teaspoonful of cream, a pinch of caster sugar and seasoning of pepper and salt. A rather more simple way of treating French beans is a la Francaise. They are put into a pan with a piece of butter, the juice of half a lemon and a little pepper and salt.

A ragout of peas needs but to be eaten to be appreciated. Put three ounces of butter into a saucepan with a teaspoonful of minced onion, a few leaves of fresh mint, pepper and salt. When these ingredients have simmered for a few minutes—take care that they do not acquire the least color—add a quart of green peas and shake the pan to prevent their burning. After five minutes add half a pint of water, a very little borax and half a teaspoonful of powdered sugar. Cover the pan closely and draw it to the side of the fire and let the contents cook slowly for about three-quarters of an hour. If allowed to boil, the water will soon be absorbed, and unless more is added at once the peas, instead of being large and tender, will be shriveled and hard.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

A Bottle of Tea.

When you are starting out on a journey of two or three days' duration, a bottle of tea should accompany you. Tea is one of the best things in the world to put in drinking water to improve its taste and counteract the effect of change in water, which affects some people seriously. Take a quarter of a pound of tea—black tea is best, or the uncolored Japan—and pour over it nearly a quart of boiling water. Let it stand for an hour or two; then pour off the liquid in a bottle, put a glass stopper in it and carry in your traveling bag. Pour a tablespoonful or two in the water you drink. If you desire iced tea to drink with your lunch, you have only to put two or three tablespoonfuls of the decoction in a glass and add ice water from the cooler, and you have a pure and healthy drink. It is said that the reason the Chinese drink so much tea is because the water in that country is such horrible stuff.—Washington Star.

Nature's Sovereign Remedy.

"I don't know how many times," said a young father, "I have heard my 7-year-old son say from his little bed to his mother sitting beside him, 'Mamma, my tooth aches,' and I don't know how many times I have heard his mother say to him (he never will let her do anything for him and all she can do is to sit by him and soothe him): 'Well, dear, why don't you go to sleep? If you'd go to sleep, it would stop aching.' Somehow this always seems very funny to me, though the little un takes it very seriously, and I believe his mother does too. Pretty soon I hear him say to his mother, 'Will it stop aching if I go to sleep?' and I hear his mother say, 'Yes, dear,' and after awhile everything is quiet, and then I know that the youngster has taken nature's infallible cure for the toothache—and for many other of the aches and ills of life—he has gone to sleep."—New York Sun.

"The laziest cigarette smoker I have seen lately," said a citizen, "was a young man who crossed the street the other day with a cigarette in one hand and an unlighted match in the other. Senator Irby Denounces Cleveland.

LAURENS, S. C., Aug. 7.—In a speech before a reform convention Senator Irby denounced the proposed tariff law as a humbug and a fraud and declared that but for the McKinley law he would not support it. He did not caucus with senators, because of the sugar trust contamination. Cleveland, he said, was a hypocrite and a fraud and no Democrat, but an aristocrat, all his associations being with the money power. The south and west, he stated, must combine with Boies, Tillman or Stevenson in 1896.

A. E. NICKINSON, BUSINESS MANAGER

TUESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1894.

The Alabama election, yesterday, resulted in a Democratic victory. Oates is elected Governor by about 15,000 majority, and the Legislature is Democratic by a fair majority.

The Philadelphia Record, after a careful comparison of the Senate tariff bill with the Mills bill, says that the Senate bill makes the rates of duty lower in the aggregate and in detail than the rates proposed in the Mills bill, which, it will be remembered, was accepted in 1888 as a fair expression of the views of tariff reformers. That the Senate bill is not satisfactory to true friends of tariff reform shows to what extent conditions and sentiment have changed in six years, and warrants the belief that if tariff revision fails now for any reason, the next demand of the people will not be for lower duties, but for no duties at all or absolute free trade.

The Senate, yesterday, passed the House bill, providing for the inspection of immigrants by United States consuls, with an amendment by Mr. Hill, for the exclusion and deportation of anarchists. The bill provides for a stringent examination of all immigrants by consuls in European ports; prohibits the landing of all alien anarchists, and authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to cause the arrest of any Anarchist who has been allowed to land and his return to the country from whence he came. The bill also provides for the appointment of immigrant inspectors in such foreign ports as the Secretary of the Treasury may elect, at an annual salary of $2,500.

The number of names on the woman suffrage petitions presented to the Constitutional Convention is 624,999. The population of the State is about 6,000,000, so one out of every ten inhabitants has petitioned for equal suffrage. No figures as to the number of men who have signed the petitions are given, but it is estimated that at least one quarter of the petitioners are men, leaving nearly half a million women who have asked for the right to vote. The showing is a remarkable one, but the effect is not as impressive as it would have been had it not been for the oft repeated boasts made by the leaders of the movement, in the early spring and winter, that they would lay before the convention the names of one million women who demanded the ballot.

The Democratic members of the House of Representatives will meet in caucus, this afternoon, to consider the tariff question. It has been generally understood that no caucus would be held so long as there was any chance of agreement in conference and the calling of the caucus is regarded as an admission that all hope of agreement has been abandoned. The caucus bids fair to be an exciting one for there is a large body of stalwart tariff reformers in the House who would prefer no tariff bill to the Senate makeshift, while a body, almost equally strong, is willing to accept the Senate bill if nothing better can be secured. The House conferees insist on free coal and iron ore, and to this the Senate conferees will not assent.

TWO VIEWS ON TARIFF SITUATION

Gorman Says the House Must Come to Terms in Forty-Eight Hours—Wilson Says Agreement Will Be Reached If Conferees Are Not Interfered With.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Gorman, in an interview, says the House conferees on the tariff bill have just forty-eight hours longer in which to agree. If an agreement is not reached, then, he says, the Senate will break off further negotiations and put sugar on the free list. He declares the bounty on sugar, which the Louisiana Senators are fighting for, will not be continued for this year. Rather than do this, sugar will be placed on the free list.

All the House conferees on the Tariff bill except one will be present at to-day's caucus of House Democrats. Mr. Wilson will make a statement of the progress made on the Tariff bill, and he will declare an agreement will be reached if conferees are not interfered with.

Mr. Springer says that he will offer in the caucus a resolution that the tariff bill and its amendments be laid before the House for consideration in order. He expects a fierce fight in caucus.

The Way of Long Twilight.

On first thought it seems to be a rather paradoxical statement that the nearer we approach to the equator the shorter is that intermediate stage or transition from day to night and from night to day, which we call "twilight." This being the case, however, the period of duration of "the dim, uncertain light" in all tropical countries is very short when compared with that of countries of high northern or southern latitude. The explanation is this: On the equator the sun's path is at exact right angles with the horizon. The last beam of light fades from view when the sun is at 18 degrees below the horizon. This 18 degree mark is quickly reached at the equator for reasons given in the first sentence of this explanation. The farther from the equator we get the less become the angles which the sun's course makes with the horizon, and the longer the time required for him to reach the 18 degree mark; hence the longer the period of twilight.—St. Louis Republic.

DOINGS OF THE FIREMEN.

Business Transacted at Last Night's Monthly Meetings—Arranging for Trips Out of Town—An Invitation Declined—Routine Business.

The regular monthly meetings of the several fire companies were held last night. In addition to the usual routine business, several of the companies completed arrangements for visits which they will make in the near future to places to which they have been invited to participate in parades as guests of local companies. Reports of the business transacted by the several companies follow:

EXCELSIOR HOOK & LADDER CO., NO. 1.

F. R. Van Leuven resigned as an active member and was elected an active honorary.

An invitation was received from Goodwill H. & L. Co., of Warwick, to participate in the firemen's parade in that village Sept. 27th or Oct. 4th. After considerable discussion the company decided not to accept it, owing to the Binghamton trip and the Middletown parade, which will be held about that time.

The arrangements for the Binghamton trip are about completed. The company will leave by special train, via the O. & W., about noon, Wednesday, August 29th, arriving in Binghamton in the evening. McQuoid Engine company will also leave on the same train.

Excelsiors will probably secure the services of the West Point Military Band or the 22d Regiment Band of New York. T. K. DeWitt was elected delegate to the State Firemen's Convention at Oswego, August 21st to 24th.

MONHAGEN HOSE CO., NO. 1.

Frank Lea was elected an active member, and Fred S. Rogers resigned as an active and was elected an active honorary member.

The committee in charge of the Scranton trip reported all arrangements completed. The company will leave on O. and W. train 1, August 24th, returning the next night, after the parade. Lincoln Post Drum Corps, of Newark, has been secured for the trip.

EAGLE HOSE CO., NO. 2.

J. Frank Tuthill resigned the position of Foreman, which he has held for several years. First Assistant J. F. Dugan and Second Assistant John Miller were promoted and Leon Simpson was elected Second Assistant.

Geo. Crosby was elected delegate to the State Firemen's Convention.

PHŒNIX ENGINE CO., NO. 4.

Phœnix Engine Co., No. 4, elected as an active member Chas. E. Russell. The most of the session was devoted to a discussion of the proposed visit to Newburgh. The foreman will visit that city during the week, and report at a special meeting next Monday evening.

M'QUOID ENGINE CO, NO. 3.

John Martin and James Durham were elected to active membership and Ed. Butts and P. Short were elected to the active honorary list.

The committee on the Binghamton trip reported progress, a sub-committee having been appointed to act with a committee from Excelsior Hook and Ladder Co.

The Lincoln Post Drum Corps, of Newark, will accompany McQuoids to Binghamton.

ONTARIO HOSE CO., NO. 5.

Ontario Hose Co., No. 5, did nothing but routine business, except to elect F. H. Hyde Assistant Secretary.

It was voted to meet every Friday night for drill until further notice.

WAALKILL ENGINE CO, NO. 6.

W. H. Comstock was elected an active member. The final preparations for the Ellenville trip were announced. The company will leave on Thursday morning, August 9th, at 8:45. Returning will leave Ellenville at 12 o'clock, midnight.

FIRST CAR TO MECHANICSTOWN.

The Trial Trip Made This Afternoon—A Car Runs Through Benton Avenue.

At 2:20, this afternoon, car No. 3, filled with invited guests, among them being representatives of the city papers, started for Midway Park.

The car was run into Benton Avenue as far as the end of the line, and then run over the sacred ground in front of the Bastain, Finn and Huyler-Marsh properties, to where the track from Sprague Av. began. A wire was attached to the truck of the car and the other end to the rail on the east side of the gap; the current was turned on, the car rolled over the earth and mounted the rail on the opposite side and went on its way.

The car ran to the Mechanicstown bridge, as far as the trolley wire is strung, making the trip in fifteen minutes. Returning, the cars made the run to Main street depot in fourteen minutes without a mishap.

Car No. 2, one of the green cars, takes the place of car No. 3 on the city line.

A RUMORED ELOPEMENT.

A Removal to This City from Ellenville Could Not Separate Loving Hearts.

There is a rumor about town of the elopement of the daughter of a Middletown butcher, who formerly resided in Ellenville, and a young butcher of that village. It is said that the girl's father objected to the attentions paid his daughter by the young man, and that in order to separate the couple, the family removed from Ellenville to this city. On Friday last the young butcher drove to this city, as is his weekly custom, and bought his week's supply of meat at the Swift refrigerator. On the same day the young lady disappeared and the natural supposition is that they went away from this city together.

ORGANIZING A NEW CHURCH.

Over Fifty Members Already Obtained for the German Lutheran Organization.

After the German services at the Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening, a meeting was held for the purporse of organizing a German Lutheran Church Society.

W. C. F. Bastian was made President and Wm. Kurtz, secretary.

It was decided to circulate papers and secure as many names as possible before the next meeting. Already fifty persons have signed the membership roll and the projectors of the plan are very much encouraged.

The German minister, Rev. Mr. Katz, is an able preacher and those who heard him on Sunday were much pleased with him.

On Their Way to the Adirondacks

From the Newburgh News.

The Rev. Robert Bruce Clark, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Goshen, with several young people were in town for an hour or so, this morning, on their way to the Adirondacks. The party included Mr. Edward C. Thompson, Miss Hattie Fletcher, and Miss Agnes Carpenter, of Goshen, and Mr. W. W. Whiddit, Jr., of this city. They are to spend the ensuing four weeks at Indian Lake, in the Adirondacks, as the guests of the Rev. Mr. Clark. Several of the children of Surrogate and Mrs. Roswell C. Coleman, of Goshen, will go to the Adirondacks, to morrow.

New Pilgrims in Newburgh.

Thirty "New Pilgrims," who started out from Philadelphia, on Monday of last week, and have been visiting points of interest in revolutionary history, arrived in Newburgh, Sunday. They visited Washington's Headquarters, West Point, Fishkill, and were entertained by Newburgh's citizens. The city papers devote nearly all their space to reports of speeches.

A VERY CLOSE GAME.

Asylums Defeat the Cuban Giants by One Run—Some Very Good and Some Very Bad Playing—Close Decisions by the Umpire—The Game in Detail.

The Asylums had a very narrow escape, yesterday afternoon, at the hands of the Cuban Giants, and many people left the grounds under the impression that but for a doubtful decision in favor of the home team in the ninth inning, the score would have been tied, if indeed the game would not have been won by the dusky champions.

The game was full of close decisions, brilliant plays and heavy batting.

Heckman met with a painful accident in the third inning, while attempting to stop Whyte's hard hit grounder. The ball took a quick bound just as he was about to pick it up, and he was struck violently on the nose. The blood spurted from the cut and time was called. After a few minutes the plucky player resumed his position and was still able to assist in several put outs and also made two hits.

The Asylums batted hard and ran bases with better judgment than they displayed in the last few games, but the fielding was in several instances very "rocky." Too many captains spoiled a put out in right centre field, when Lawler and Murray both stood still and allowed a fly ball to drop between them, each expecting the other to take it as both players' names had been called.

For the first five innings Cheseboro pitched a magnificent game, holding the colored champions down to two hits, both made by Pattison, one of which was a scratch bunt which he beat out by virtue of his sprinting abilities and the good nature of the umpire.

In the sixth, Clarence Williams went to first on called balls and a moment later, A. Jackson followed him, having been unable to dodge an erratic inshoot. The sight of two men on bases rattled the Asylums so badly that they began throwing the ball all over the lot, finally landing it out in center field, while the two runners cantered home. It was one of the worst cases of bad rattles ever seen on the grounds. Both men should have been caught between bases, as they gave the home team every opportunity. This very tiresome work seemed to have a bad effect on Cheseboro, for in the seventh inning the Giants fell upon him for six hits, one of which was a triple by Grant. Three runs were scored and two men left on bases. In the eighth a triple and a single earned a run, and in the ninth, Grant's double and O. Jackson's single, earned another run, which brought the score within one point of the home team. O. Jackson took several desperate chances in base running, but the umpire finally declared him out at third, Heckman to Madison. The decision was very close and through the cloud of dust which he raised in sliding to the base it appeared to many as though the runner was safe, but Umpire McCarter was within five feet of the bag and must have been able to judge of the play much better than the spectators. Nelson ended the agony by being thrown out at second by McGreevy.

The Cubans were very much chagrined at their defeat and the umpire came in for his share of abuse.

There were several features, prominent among them being Genegel's catch of Pattison's fly to right center over the tree. The runner had reached second before the ball touched Genegel's hands, and Terrill, who had run to third, was easily doubled up.

Cheseboro was nearly knocked down by a liner from Nelson's bat, in the seventh, but he managed to hold the ball, and thereby saved two runs, as there was a runner on both second and third bases.

The following is the score:

OBITUARY.

James Ashton.

Mr. James Ashton died at 4:30 p. m., yesterday, at his home, No. 70 East 86th street, in New York city, of consumption, aged sixty-two years. He had been ill only eleven weeks.

Mr. Ashton was a native of Sheffield, England, and came to this country many years ago. He resided in this city until about four years ago, except for two brief periods, when he lived in California, going there for the benefit of his health. He was a sawmaker by trade and was employed in the National Saw Works during his residence here.

Mr. Ashton had many warm friends in this city, who will learn with regret of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Annie M. Ashton, and one son, William, who is about eighteen years old.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

The Mayor's Vacation About Over—Entries for the Fall Races—Charged with Petty Larceny—Must Keep the Peace—Assemblyman Bean's Soft Snap—A Road Accident—Personal Notes.

From our Regular Correspondent

—Mayor Hock is expected home Thursday from his vacation, with a clear mind, and sleeves rolled up for the fall campaign.

—The entries for the fall races of the Goshen Driving Park Ass'n., August 28, 29, 30, 31, close Monday, August 13th. There is a large list of entries for the colt stakes.

—A. M. Smith, of Chester, was arrested yesterday and brought to Goshen charged with petty larceny, the theft of a gun from Wm. Whitman, better known as "Catbird." He was taken to Chester this morning for a hearing before Police Justice Conklin.

—Con. Mack, Jr., and Peter Kinney were arrested by the police Sunday for fighting. Mack was put under $100 bonds to keep the peace for one year. Kinney was discharged.

—Miss Edna Hulse is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. B. Beattie.

—Hon. Joseph Dean is in the Adirondacks enjoying himself at the State's expense as a member of an Assembly committee with a roving commission, nominally for the purpose of investigating the question of forest preservation.

—T. Howell Tuthill, of Newburgh, is visiting his brother, H. P. Tuthill, on Prospect street.

—Miss May Burt has returned from a visit to friends in Pennsylvania.

—Last evening, Horseman Osborne while out driving with a friend, collided with another wagon, near the colored church, and both were thrown out. Mr. Osborne escaped better than his friend, who was rendered unconscious by his fall. The other wagon was not injured, and its occupants drove on and disappeared in the darkness.

—Rev. J. G. Oakley, of New York, is visiting friends in town.

—It is quietly whispered that one of our popular young dry goods clerks is engaged to one of Goshen's estimable young ladies.

Recorder's Court.

—Orr Brothers paid off their men, yesterday. Two of them made bad use of their money and got full. One was arrested, last night, by Officer Walsh, while driving recklessly a rig hired from Donovan's stable. The other was picked up, this morning, by Officer Vail, while driving a cart on his way to work. Each paid $3 fine.

—An itinerant umbrella mender picked up drunk, last night, was run out of town, this morning.

Meeting of Democratic Ward Committees.

The Democratic Ward Committees of the several wards will meet on Wednesday evening, at the place where they held their last primary meeting, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of selecting two inspectors, one poll and one ballot clerk for each election district in each ward. The lists of those selected should be handed to the Mayor for his approval before Aug. 10th.

D. B. SWEENEY, Chairman.
TIMOTHY MONGAN, Secretary.

Prohibition Camp Meeting at Orange Lake.

The annual prohibition camp meeting occurs at Orange Lake, near Newburgh, August 10th, 11th and 12th. County Chairman J. W. Hill desires to meet all members of the County Committee at the camp on Saturday.

Sudden Death.

Mrs. Stykes, daughter of Mr. William Inman, and sister of Mrs. Daniel Robinson, of this city, died very suddenly, Sunday, at her home at Hewitt, N. J. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death.

SOUTH CENTREVILLE

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, in a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 130. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opium or dangerous drugs.

CUSTOMS OF COSTERS.

They Lead a Precarious Life, but Are Philosophers All the Time.

A writer in the London Quiver says that the costers are now a large class. Though the coster's work is extremely hard and his profits are precarious he lives for a good purpose. When he speaks of himself as "a general dealer," he means that he trades in anything which enables him to turn an honest penny. His ordinary mode of life is even lower than is meant by living from hand to mouth. When he turns out in the small hours of the morning to look round the markets, he may not even know whether this traffic for the day will consist in fish, vegetables or fruit. He may take a hasty penny breakfast in the street and then go to Billingsgate with the idea of "loading up" with the first, only to find that everything is too dear, and then he must hie away to Spitalfields or Covent Garden. When he thus arises with the lark, he cannot tell whether he will have "a good day" or a very poor one.

The most despairing time of all is when the markets all round are too dear to allow of the barrow being "loaded up." If the coster can clear 3 or 4 shillings in the day, he will not be downhearted, and should he earn nothing, or even make a loss, he looks at the matter as philosophically as one could expect. There are shrewd business men among the costers who rise into thriving shopkeepers. The bank establishment for their own use teaches them to save, and the evening for receiving deposits will be one of the liveliest of the week. The fact is also learned that there is strength in unity, so that the London Union of General Dealers in its way exercises as farreaching an influence as a city guild.

The chairman might correctly have described himself in the words of one of his brethren, "I ain't a eddicated person, but I know wot's wot." He proved this characteristic by rising into a thriving tradesman, having one or two shops, and when on one occasion his errand boy stole a box containing nearly 100 sovereigns the police would not believe that such a man had so much money to be stolen. The fact was as stated, however, and the "general dealer" still continued to make progress, while he was well known to Lord Shaftesbury, who publicly alluded to him as "My friend ——." At first sight it may appear to be a humble thing to be a leading spirit among such humble folk, but in a way there is ample scope for administrative ability and enterprise.

PLAYING IN THE GARRET.

Some of the Resources and Pleasures of the Playroom Under the Roof.

"There is one delight," said a man who was reared in a small town, "that I suppose many children born in great cities never know, and that is the delight of playing in the garret. Many city children, to be sure, have relatives in the country or in smaller cities or towns whom they have visited, who live in houses with garrets, and these know something of the delights of the garret, but there must be many city children who never even heard the name.

"For myself, I remember well a garret to which I used to climb in rainy weather up a steep and narrow flight of stairs. It was warm and rather stuffy in the garret, but the rain made music on the shingled roof, and the garret itself was full of treasures. There was room, to begin with, space to move about in, though you needed to look out a little for the timber in the sloping roof. There was a swing from two of the beams, and we used to swing and swing in that and never get tired of it. There was a chimney up through this garret, a great, big, friendly chimney, and we used to play tag around that chimney until we couldn't run any more. There was a great lot of old magazines, and these were an unfailing source of delight. There were old books in queer type, and with strange looking pictures. There were queer old hair covered trunks, with round tops, studded with brass headed nails. In these trunks and around in the garret were curious, old fashioned men's clothes, and the most extraordinary gowns and capes and hats of women—not fancy costumes, but the real things, such as they actually wore many years ago, and looking stranger than anything you could hire at a costumer's. We used to dress up sometimes in these old, old things and parade around in the garret and have great times generally, and so forgot ourselves in the delights of the garret that the very world itself looked strange when we came down stairs and back to it.

"What is there in the big city that takes the place of the garret?"—New York Sun.

A Campaign Relic.

A relic of the presidential campaign of 1834, consisting of a copper coin issued by the opponents of Andrew Jackson, is in the possession of Ira H. Benjamin of Romeo, Mich. On one side, encircling the center, are the words: "Perish Credit. Perish Commerce. 1834." In the center is the figure of a hog running, with the words, "My Third Heat" on it. Above the hog, "My Victory." Below it, "Down With the Bank." On the other side, encircling the center, are the words, "My Substitute For the U. S. Bank." In the center is a medallion of Jackson, and below it the words: "Experiment. My Currency. My Glory."—Chicago Herald.

Catarrh.

Many cases of catarrh might be avoided and others greatly relieved if at the first sign of any trouble in the "early snuffles" period the nose and throat were thoroughly sprayed at least once a day with one part of listerine mixed with two parts of water. A throat specialist thinks this treatment as much a part of the good and cleanly toilet as brushing the teeth or hair or bathing. —New York Post.

CARMENCITA WINS A NAME.

The Spanish Dancer Christened by a Band of Brigands While a Captive.

"In my time," said Carmencita, "I have danced before the queen of Spain and other notables and have been impressed by the surroundings, but no dancing that I ever did had such peculiar and impressive surroundings as one that I did when a little girl before a band of Spanish brigands. When I was 15, I was living with my aunt and uncle, who had a produce farm not very far from Madrid and equally near to the palace of the Escurial. I was in the habit of loading a donkey with fresh eggs and vegetables for the priests who had charge of the church, and on one particular morning I not only had a heavy load of provisions for the fathers, but nearly 2,000 reals besides hidden in my bosom, which were to pay for some masses for my aunt's mother.

"I was proceeding along slowly with my donkey, not thinking of anything else except the bull fight I had seen on the previous Sunday, when I was suddenly surrounded by fierce looking men, and in a few minutes I was being hurried down a rocky path into some dark woods, where a tall and dignified man, the chief of the robbers, was lying asleep. He was awakened by our coming and smiled kindly at my poor little trembling self and asked me my name. 'Carmen,' I exclaimed through my chattering teeth. 'Well, Carmencita, don't be frightened, and perhaps I will let you go home soon.' I may tell you that that was the first time I was ever addressed as 'Carmencita'—Little Carmen—the same as I now call myself, so I was christened by a brigand, I may say.

"Well, I sat down and watched the robbers making omelets out of my fresh eggs and crunching my crisp onions, and how I wished every mouthful would choke them! After awhile the chief looked to where I was crouching in a corner and called me to him and made me drink a big tincupful of wine, and then he demanded to know where I had hidden the money for my greataunt's masses. I was dumfounded. 'How do you know that I have any money?' I asked. 'Oh, I know, little one. Let us count the shining coins and see if there is enough.' And motioning to one of the women of his band I was soon relieved of the treasure hidden in my bodice. I implored him not to take it and told him how sure would be the vengeance of the holy saints if he robbed them of their dues.

"Like most Spaniards, the bandits were truly religious, and I noticed that my pleading in the name of the church was having its effect on the other members of the band, and then somebody began playing a mandolin. For a few minutes everybody listened, and whether it was the wine I drank or what I don't know, but I began tapping the ground with my feet and nodding in tune with the aria. 'Ah you dance?' said the chief. 'Now, come, little one, see if you can't earn back your mass money.'

"I sent up a silent prayer to the blessed Virgin and followed the band to a smooth piece of grassy ground just beyond the cavern. Round this the robbers squatted, tailor fashion, excepting two of them who stood on one side strumming guitars. I danced, and the good saints must have inspired every movement of my body, for soon the entire band was clapping their hands and shouting 'Brava, bravissima!' For nearly an hour I continued until I at last had to stop from exhaustion. But when I had finished the robber chief lifted me in his arms and kissed me and handed me back the purse with all the mass money untouched. Then he told one of his men to bring out my donkey, and next he took off his hat and went around among his band, saying, 'Now, boys, let us pay Carmencita for the good breakfast she brought us.' I heard the clink of money falling in his hat, and in a few minutes he came to me and told me to place my two hands together like a pocket, and then he poured on my palms a sum far larger than I should have received from the priests for my farm produce. Then, with two more of his men, he escorted me and my donkey nearly to the gates of the Escurial, and before he left he gave me a small, curiously bent piece of iron. 'This,' said he, 'will save you from all molestation in this portion of Spain if you ever have the fortune to meet any more gentlemen of my profession.'

"I told my story to the fathers at the palace, and a troop of dragoons was sent in pursuit, but I am glad to say they did not catch Antanazio. That was the bandit chief's name. My uncle was quite content with the amount I brought him for his eggs and vegetables, and there were a few pieces over for me to spend at the fair. The robber's piece of iron I have still. I think it is my mascot."—Philadelphia Times.

THE WHITE RUBBER GOAT.

Lord Byron looks with a haughty stare
Straight out from the shelf at me,
With the handsomest wave to his smooth bisque hair
That an artist would dare to see,
And the goodliest curl to his silent lip,
And the coldest and loftiest smile,
Will has heard set back at a holiday tip
Of that color of living style.

And down in the corner of that same shelf
As he took on a goat for the like,
A white rubber goat—ashamed of himself—
Stands with a long sigh at me.
A white rubber goat that I have cried to know
Has a voice, but whose voice I dare
Not call in the room that's hid below
The wealth of his ringlet hair.

The white rubber goat is a homely goat,
With eyes that are bloodshot and red,
And from his whiskers that hang from his throat
In a bunch like a beard of weed,
And the voice that he shrieks from his stomach is shrill
And his figure is awkward and squat,
But I warn that that white rubber goat will fulfill
An errand which Byron cannot.

Oh, Byron, look down with your cold, bisque eye
And scorn the white goat if you will!
You never can quiet my baby's cry
With that countenance haughty and chill.
This critic of art with her rosy fist
Will pass you all scornfully by
For the goat whose red mouth into white has been kissed
And whose voice is a squeeze whistle's cry.
—Ladies' Home Journal.

THIS IS NEW YORK.

A Picture of the Metropolis as Drawn by an English Artist.

I regard with interest the custom house officer, the first American I have seen on native soil, and can scarcely answer his questions for staring. He is a handsome, weary man, exactly like one of Leech's volunteer officers of 1860, and he writes rapidly, holding the pen between the first and second fingers.

There's Bartholdi's gigantic statue at last, and there are the piers and swing of Brooklyn bridge. Sam has fastened up all my luggage, and we shake hands heartily. I shall never forget him and the oranges he brought me stuck on a fork.

As I go down the gangway a crowd of faces look up at me from the dock. A twinkling Irishman darts at me with a telegraph form and a pencil. He leaves them with me, with a sweet, wistful smile, and rushes away after others. My luggage is all waiting for me under my initial in the huge shed. I have to open every trunk and bag and watch large, dirty hands play over my clean linen. Sam comes to shake hands with me again and gets me an Irishman and a truck to take my luggage to a fly. An Irishman opens the door: an Irishman drives me. The first shop I see is Michael Finnegan's saloon bar.

I drive jolting over tramway lines, under elevated railways, between piles of snow as high as the early walls of Rome. I see an unmistakable Irish policeman, in a helmet with a turned down brim, regarding with admiration a colored lady sauntering through the slush of the sidewalk in goloshes. We are nearly smashed by a cable car slinking along, ringing a funereal clanging bell. I see a diseased lamppost, with a dark red letter box fastened to it; next, a tall, black, electric light pole. On the lamppost I read, on one side, Fifth avenue; on the other, East Twenty-sixth street. On the top of a huge building there's a huge sky sign advertising certain cigarettes. On the face of it three large clocks tell the time in London, New York and Denver. As we jolt past, up Fifth avenue, I read on a board, "Oh, Mamie, won't you take your honey boy to see Peter F. Dailey in 'A Country Sport?'" This is New York.—Cornhill Magazine.

What Passed Between Them.

Two men of more or less bibulosity who had always been friends got into a row one night which ended in one getting pretty badly battered and the other being arrested for assault and battery. On the trial one of the attorneys was quite anxious to know why two such friends had got into such trouble.

"Will you state just how the difficulty originated?" he inquired of the one on the stand.

The witness told a very much involved story.

"That isn't what I want to know," said the attorney sharply.

The witness made another try.

"That's no clearer than the other," objected the attorney. "Can't you tell just what passed between you and nothing more?"

The face of the witness showed a light in it.

"Oh," he said, "is that what you want to know?"

"Of course it is. Tell that and no more."

"Well, as near as I can remember, there were 10 beers, four whiskies, two gin fizzes, two Manhats, one brandy and one vermouth, one bottle of champagne"——

"That's enough," interrupted the attorney. "All the rest is easily explained now."—Detroit Free Press.

Temperature of the Earth.

Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine is authority for the statement that the temperature of the earth increases one degree on an average for each 55 feet of descent into its interior, basing its conclusions on observations made at the great shaft at Sperenberg, Germany, which is the deepest boring ever made by man—4,172 feet. At such a rate of increase the earth's temperature of only 200 miles is 18,000 degrees above the zero of Fahrenheit's thermometer. One curious point in this connection is that 18,000 degrees is Professor Rosetti's estimate of the probable temperature of the sun.—St. Louis Republic.

It is estimated that of the 5,000,000 inhabitants in London over 1,000,000 are poor, living on less than $5 a week for each family. Over 300,000 are in chronic poverty.

Nothing indeed but the possession of some power can with any certainty discover what at the bottom is the true character of any man.—Burke.

THE HOGAN BOILER.

WARMLY PRAISED BY W. E. PARTRIDGE IN THE SANITARY PLUMBER.

Proved to be a Triumphant Success by Tests Made Under Unfavorable Conditions—Some of Its Points of Excellence and Superiority—The Limits of Possibility Almost Reached and Ordinary Competition Left Far Behind.

The current number of the Sanitary Plumber contains an article on the Hogan Boiler at the State Hospital for the Insane from the pen of Mr. W. E. Partridge, a member of the Society of Engineers and a writer of recognized authority on engineering subjects. Mr. Partridge was present at the tests of the boiler which were made by Prof. Carpenter and what he says in praise of the boiler and its work is based not only on Prof. Carpenter's report but also on his own observations. Mr. Partridge says:

The numerous friends of John J. Hogan, the well known engineer, whose articles in the trade press on steam and hot water heating the past few years have commanded the interested attention of the trade elsewhere, and whose inventions in the appliances for house warming, steam production, etc., have been distinct and marked advances in the art, will be glad to know that he has again achieved success. There has just been brought to a conclusion at Middletown, N. Y., a long series of tests of the first power boiler built under Mr. Hogan's patents. What this boiler has developed under the severe tests applied to it is of the greatest importance to users of steam, whether in heating plants or power plants, everywhere.

CIRCULATION IN BOILERS.

The first commercial application of Mr. Hogan's idea of circulation in boilers, or the action of water under the influence of heat, was made in the apparatus now known as the Novelty Circulator, manufactured by the Model Heating Company, Philadelphia. This, as a domestic heater, jumped at once into a position of prominence with the trade, and from the beginning has held a very high place in the estimation of all practical men who have become acquainted with it.

DIMENSIONS OF THE HOGAN BOILER.

The boiler at the Middletown State Hospital is of the vertical water tube type, but entirely new in design and differing radically from anything that has heretofore been produced. The boiler occupies ground space of about 11 by 21 feet. The grate surface is about 80 square feet in extent, and the height of the boiler from the ground line to the top of the steam drums is not far from 24 feet; but without diagrams it would be impossible to give an idea of the construction of the boiler in its essential features.

TESTS UNDER UNFAVORABLE CONDITIONS.

The trials were made under circumstances about as unfavorable to the boiler as could well be imagined, and yet under conditions which are perhaps inseparable from every first apparatus of its kind. No preparation was made in arranging the boiler for the test, such as are usual where records are to be made. The fuel employed was such as is regularly used in the steam plant of the institution, or such as could be procured in the town, when variations were desired. With this combination of unfavorable circumstances, however, the boiler has shown a higher power and better economy than was ever developed by any other boiler under the most favorable conditions.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE AND SUPERIORITY

In construction Mr. Hogan has very successfully applied well recognized and accepted principles to every part of his boiler. He maintains his fire at an exceedingly high temperature until the combustion is complete. The design of the furnace is unusually good. The products of combustion are so distributed along the water tubes as to part with their heat in the most perfect manner without permitting any considerable portion of it to escape by radiation. Within the boiler the steam, as it is formed, has the freest opportunity to escape from the surrounding water without dragging the water along with it. The surfaces which absorb heat are so arranged that a circulation, almost without limit, and of a character never before shown in boiler construction, brings a constant supply of water to the heating surfaces. Every portion of the boiler is so arranged as to permit the freest movement of the water, and when in operation actual tests have demonstrated that the circulation is complete and rapid to a degree, which has proved astonishing, even to those who are familiar with such subjects.

NEAR TO THE LIMITS OF POSSIBILITY.

Under these tests the Hogan boiler has developed a most extraordinary capacity, in one instance at least of nearly three times its normal rating, and working regularly at from two to two and a half times its rated power. It is not to be a remarkable by any means and quite unexpected fact that steam pushed for capacity the fuel economy is maintained in a most satisfactory degree, and the boiler can be so rating a phenomenal one is proved which will probably prove on computation to be a record. It is certainly very close to the limits of possibility.

BEYOND ORDINARY COMPETITION.

To the engineering world the fact that when hardest pushed, as well as when running moderately, the boiler produces dry steam, will be most interesting and valuable. A boiler which can work from a point below, to one, two or three times above, its nominal capacity, with a high evaporative economy at all points, while producing dry steam under all conditions, is one which will be out of the field of ordinary competition.

Musical and Literary Entertainment—Personal Notes—Harvest Home Picnic—A Useful Old Horse and a Very Old Plow.

Correspondence ARGUS AND MERCURY.

—The musical and literary entertainment mentioned recently, will be given Friday evening, Aug. 10th, in the Methodist Church. Miss Etta Austin, of Unionville, will entertain the audience with recitations pathetic, dramatic and humorous. She will be assisted by Prof. A. N. Casnor, a noted vocalist, of Deckertown. Admission twenty-five cents, children fifteen cents. Proceeds for the benefit of the church.

—Miss Lena Cox is visiting her uncle, F. B. Ellis.

—We noticed our former townsman W. W. Bailey, in town Sunday.

—Mrs. John Conklin, of Jersey City, is visiting friends in this place.

—For good roads and fine views this section is hard to beat.

—The Harvest Home Picnic is set down for Wednesday Aug. 8th, in the Stewartown grove. The Amity band has been engaged.

—I noticed an item a short time ago, in relation to the oldest horse in Orange county. It may be the oldest, but I doubt if it is any better if as well preserved as a horse owned by H. N. Case, of this place, which was foaled thirty years ago, last May. Your correspondent saw it hitched in a team plowing stiff sod land last spring, and, to-day, is in good condition and able to do work on a farm. I may add in this connection that the plow in use by Mr. Case was purchased fifty-two years ago in New Jersey, and was in as good condition as many farmer's plows that have been in use but a short time.

A Very Small Driver Comes Safe to Town—Personal Notes—Game of Ball.

—One morning last week, the people of this village were very much surprised to see a milk wagon entering the village, the sole occupant of the wagon being a child of two years. When asked where his uncle was, he could not tell, but said: "I made P'incy do, an' dot dust in my eyes." A few minutes later two very frightened young men came running here, and were very much relieved to find the child safe. They had left the horse standing in the road, more than a half a mile from here, and went into a field to drive out some cows they were taking to pasture, and in their absence the horse started on, and was stopped here by Niven Clark. Where there are so many farmers bringing milk, it was very fortunate there were no wagons going in the opposite direction. The child is a grandson of Mr. John O'Connor, with whom he is spending the summer.

—Misses Nellie and Clara Johnson, daughters of ex-Sheriff J. M. Johnson, of Middletown, formerly of this village, are visiting friends here.

—Miss Winifred Gallagher, of Paterson, N. J., is spending the summer with her parents, near here.

—Mr. Thomas Dugan, of Middletown, was a guest at Mr. John O'Connor's, last week.

—The Johnson base ball nine played a game of ball with the Slate Hills, Saturday last, and were again winners. There was a very large crowd in attendance.

FEEDING A DELICATE BABY

Words of a Famous Physician That Should be Written on the Walls of Every Nursery—How to Supplement Mother's Milk.

"One-half of the deaths of infants are caused by improper feeding," should be written on the walls of every nursery.

It is known to all doctors that there is no food for an infant equal to the milk of a robust woman. But there are hosts of mothers who cannot nurse their children during the entire year, and many others ought not to, as the nutriment which they furnish steadily loses in richness and power to make firm flesh and bone, and to keep baby well. This is especially true in summer.

"How shall I feed my baby?" is then the question of these mothers who cannot nurse their babies.

"Feed the little one on lactated food," says the more experienced mother.

Years and years of splendid results in the rearing of delicate children on lactated food have given it its brilliant reputation among mothers and physicians. As a nutriment and preventive of disease it has been subjected to the most trying tests, and has brought thousands of babies safely through the hot summer, sustaining their strength in the exhausting diseases peculiar to childhood.

Here is the experience of the sweet baby boy whose portrait is given above. His mother, Mrs. W. H. P. Caron, who resides at 30 North First street, Meriden, Conn., writes:

"I take pleasure in sending you the picture of our little Walter. He was a very sick baby and would not nurse. We tried everything we could but he never got well until a friend recommended lactated food to us. We gave it to him and he improved rapidly. This is his second summer and is very trying to him, as he is cutting teeth, but in spite of that he is larger than a good many as old. He will eat nothing but lactated food. I hope that I may have many chances to recommend it, for I know of nothing else that deserves so much praise as lactated food."

EARNINGS OF LOCAL RAILROADS.

The Lehigh and Hudson and Susquehanna and Western Show Losses from Former Years.
